Celebrating your support

2020
Giving Circles at the University of Bristol

The University of Bristol was built on the extraordinary support and philanthropic gifts of our founding benefactors. Today and in recent years, your generosity continues this legacy of philanthropy, which helps to shape and support Bristol’s ambitions for the future.

You are part of an inspirational community of philanthropists who are enabling ground-breaking research, solving global challenges and enriching lives.

Complementing our widely supported Bristol Pioneers programme, our Giving Circles are a lasting record of those individuals, charitable trusts, foundations and companies who have made exceptional gifts to the University. These Giving Circles enable us to recognise and celebrate your support.

The Sir Winston Churchill Philanthropic Circle

For donors who have committed over £5 million to the University

Sir Winston Churchill, our longest serving Chancellor (1929-1965), Nobel Laureate (Literature 1953) and Prime Minister, lends his name to our most prestigious Giving Circle. He understood our ambition to make a better life for the world in which we live. We are pleased to recognise those whose landmark gifts will be crucial in realising our bold ambition for the future.

For donors who have committed £1 million to £4,999,999 to the University

Our University is at an extraordinary point in its history, and we will continue to work with and recognise those leading benefactors who share our vision for discovery and our passion for learning, in the manner of Dorothy Hodgkin, Chancellor (1971-1988) and Nobel Laureate (Chemistry 1964).

‘There are two moments that are important. There’s the moment when you know you can find the answers and that’s the period you are sleepless. When you’ve got it and know what it is, then you can rest easy.’

The Haldane Circle

For donors who have committed £500,000 to £999,999 to the University

Bristol’s second Chancellor, Lord Haldane, had an enduring influence on higher education. The Haldane Circle will help to ensure that our University continues to realise this same mission.

‘Knowledge is of many kinds, and what we have to do is to bring together what is inherent in knowledge and ... appeal to men and women, irrespective of their creeds or positions in society, to seek to develop this quality that was latent within them.’
