2.1 There were no immediate actions arising from the previous meeting and all other actions were in hand.

3 VICE-CHANCELLOR’S REPORT
3.1 RECEIVED (reference BT/18-19/034).
The Vice-Chancellor introduced the report and highlighted the following key issues:

- The external environment was very challenging, and the University was taking actions to mitigate the impact of those challenges within its’ control and University of Bristol specific challenges.
- The fundamentals underlying the University were strong and progress was good compared to other Institutions in the Higher Education (HE) sector.
- Despite the challenging environment there were clear achievements, particularly in areas of student recruitment, widening participation, employability and research.
- The progress in student recruitment was particularly noteworthy given the current environment, competition within the sector, a challenging immigration context and the fact that the University unlike other HE institutions was not offering unconditional offers. The University had made significant investment in terms of nurturing the relationships with students and parents and the success in student recruitment was a credit both to academic and professional services staff.
- The Bristol Scholars Programme was providing excellent opportunities for local disadvantaged students and the University was working closely with schools across the country to deliver its contextual offers programme.
- Despite a challenging external environment, with uncertainties around Brexit and immigration policy the University was still attracting very high-quality international staff, EU and non-EU. This would continue to be closely monitored by the University.
- The University was performing well in terms of research awards.
- The potential impact of Brexit, including a no-deal scenario, had been very thoroughly articulated by the Russell Group and represented to Government. The Group would continue to lobby in respect of the impact on the HE sector and had provided detailed information on the potential impact of a ‘deal’ and ‘no-deal’ scenario.
- The ‘Augar’ review of Post 18 funding was due to report in mid-February and the University was modelling the impact of different funding cuts.
• In terms of financial impact, the University was modelling the potential impact of various outcomes of the 2017 USS valuation and the current USS 2018 valuation consultation.
• USS valuation consultation.
• In relation to Bristol specific challenges there was further work ongoing in relation to staff engagement, the length of the teaching term, assessment workload, morale and mental health and wellbeing.

3.2 During discussions and questioning Board members raised the following:

Student Residences
• [REDACTED: likely to prejudice commercial interests].

Financial Issues/Augar Review
• The outcome of the ‘Augar’ review into Post 18 Funding could have a significant impact on University finances but the University was already modelling different scenarios and working closely with Faculties on those scenarios.
• Given the current focus on Brexit it was unclear when the ‘Augar’ Review would report and the timing of implementation.
• The Funding Review had been included on the Key Risk Register.
• The Vice-Chancellor confirmed that financial pressures, including the potential impact of the Augar Review did not alter the overall direction of travel set out in the University’s Strategic Plan – [REDACTED: likely to prejudice commercial interests].

Whole Institution Mental Health and Wellbeing Strategy
• It was confirmed that the Student Mental Health Strategy had been circulated.
• A monitoring report with assurance dashboard would be brought to the next meeting of the Board.
• It was confirmed that the policy and communications around student withdrawal had been reviewed to support students during this difficult period.
• The University was receiving advice on mental health and wellbeing at a senior level from NHS and other experts in the City and region. The appointment of the new PVC (Student Experience) would also add to the expertise and focus on the implementation plan. The University is working proactively with the University of the West of England (UWE)) to develop a City-wide model for support to mental health and wellbeing.

5.1 RECEIVED (reference BT/18-19/036)
The DVC and Provost introduced the report.

5.2 The Board were updated on planned changes to engagement and communications with staff and students and asked for their views on the actions in the engagement plan. In particular the Board considered proposals around engagement events, values and behaviours, internal communications/feedback:

5.3 The following key issues were discussed by Board members:
- The Board noted that the proposals had been drawn up within the context of a number of different drivers e.g. Staff Survey, industrial relations challenges, gender pay gap, casualisation, workload pressures, issues raised by specific staff groups and in particular issues of equality and diversity.
- Values and behaviours could set the tone for interactions across the organisation, but it would be important to ensure these were not seen as purely ‘executive’ values and they would ideally be co-created.
- The Senior Team was currently considering the following potential values/behaviours: Clarity, Empowerment, Integrity, Respect.
- Staff had also fed back about values and behaviours in the staff survey and it would be important to feedback what had happened to these comments. Issues of equality and diversity also needed to be addressed in values and behaviours.
- Some concerns were expressed that the Staff Survey had taken place in 2018 and it was only now an action plan was ready for implementation.
- There needed to be clarity about expected outcomes, how success would be measured and what differences it was expected the proposed actions would make.
- It would be essential to use a multi-channel approach to engagement/communication activity.
- There was a need for more systematic communication with staff about the development journey towards specific outcomes and actions not just communication of the outcome at the end. It was important to be in ‘listening mode’ and to provide regular feedback.
