Introduction: People’s views on how to improve living standards in Guernsey

The first phase of the Survey of Guernsey Living Standards, carried out by the Townsend Centre for International Poverty Research at the University of Bristol and financed by the States of Guernsey, has now been completed. The main aims of this study were to determine the standard of living of the Guernsey population at the start of the new Millennium and to see what could be done to overcome any problems of low living standards on the Island.

The Phase One survey involved asking the Guernsey population about what they considered to be the necessities of life - which everybody should be able to afford and no one should have to do without – and questions related to possessions, social activities and services. People were also asked their opinion about what could be done to improve the standard of living on the island. A total of 856 respondents took part in a postal questionnaire and provided 4,271 suggestions on ways of improving life in Guernsey. We are taking this opportunity to thank them all for the time and trouble they took in answering our questions.

This is the second report on Phase One of the survey and is concerned with people’s views on how to improve the quality of life in Guernsey. The first report covered Islanders’ views on the necessities of life.

Respondents were asked to make suggestions about what could be done to improve their own quality of life (Question 20), the quality of life in their Parish or on Guernsey in general (Question 21) and the quality of life of less well off islanders (Question 22). For each question, respondents were asked to describe the three main things that could be done, giving a maximum of nine responses in total. However, some respondents did not give a full number of answers and a few gave more than nine. The responses to these three questions have been analysed into broad categories and are set out in the attached appendices.

It is useful to look at the responses in some detail, taking each question separately, to see what conclusions can be drawn about the views of the Guernsey population (see Appendices for a complete listing of responses). For the majority of responses, such as those grouped under Cheaper air/boat fares and Public transport, public opinion was one-sided (eg respondents who mentioned these transport issues all wanted ‘better’ public transport and cheaper air/boat fares). However, subjects like Education and Licensing laws elicited more divided views.

The responses have been ranked as to subject matter, for the three questions. These subjects often overlapped between questions. For instance, Housing appears as a worry individually and for Guernsey as a whole. However, it is considered to be a much more serious problem for those less well off. In addition, merely ranking the responses does not elucidate the whole picture because more than one subject was often linked in the minds of the respondents. For instance, for Question 20, Raising incomes, Income tax and Employment were all to do with having more disposable income.
The Three Questions

Q20: Own Quality of Life
Respondents were asked: ‘What are the three main things that could be done to improve your quality of life?’ In total, 1,452 responses were given to this question and they have been grouped, in descending order of frequency, according to subject matter.

The largest single category is Cheaper air/boat fares with 139 responses (10% of all responses), followed closely by Traffic/Parking with 132 responses (9%). Without exception, respondents feel that their own quality of life would be improved if they had cheaper travel costs and there were fewer cars, less traffic and fewer road works. However, quite a large number also requested easier parking in town.

The next most frequently cited concerns (103 responses each, or 7%) were Housing and Employment considerations. With regard to housing, a major concern is the need for more affordable housing (both States and privately rented and owner-occupied properties). The main employment issues raised are increased rate of pay, less working hours and better pensions.
Interestingly, 98 responses (7%) indicate that Nothing could be done to improve quality of life. The next most common things which would improve quality of life on the Island are the lowering the Cost of living and improving Facilities (96 responses or 7% each respectively). In terms of cost of living, many respondents indicated the need for cheaper food, heating costs, housing and petrol whereas the most commonly cited facilities shortfall had to do with sport/leisure/entertainment pursuits and the need for better shopping facilities. The lack of affordable and efficient Public transport appears to be a major issue for people in Guernsey (93 responses or 6%).

Following cost of living, facilities and public transport, a large number of responses (81 or 6%) related to having More money which would improve quality of life as would improvements in the affordability and availability of Health care (75 responses or 5%): specifically, free and universal access to doctors and dentists and opticians. Healthcare also features heavily in answers to Question 22 which asked respondents about the less well off. Another matter of major concern (62 responses or 4%) is the Environment. Common suggestions are building less, easing traffic congestion and lowering pollution. Crime appears to be a concern to Islanders (44 responses or 3%). Common themes are the need to cut down on vandalism and to increase community policing. Also prominent on people's suggestions is Income tax, particularly paying less of it or having more tax relief. This was mentioned by 43 respondents (3%). In addition, having better Services for elderly is another key area (39 responses or 3%), as is Refuse disposal/sewerage (37 responses or 3%), having more Personal time (37 responses or 3%) and the Government (26 responses or 2%). With services for the elderly, a popular issue is free travel and TV, whereas the major concern with regard to refuse disposal is the need for main drains, and with government the need for better members and less bureaucracy. Of the remaining responses, Licensing laws/Sunday trading, Population, Education and the cost of Child Care are all areas of disquiet.

In conclusion, it appears that most respondents would like more disposable income, less traffic, more parking, better housing and employment, a lower cost of living, more sport/leisure facilities, health care free at the point of use and a better environment to live in. The most favoured method for achieving a better environment seems to be a reduction in the number of cars and a cheap (or free), regular bus service.
Q21: Quality of Life in your Parish/in Guernsey

Respondents were asked ‘What are the three main things that could be done to improve the quality of life in your parish/or on Guernsey?’ In total, 1,482 responses were given to this question and they have been grouped, in descending order of frequency, according to subject matter.

In answering to Question 21, respondents were asked to consider their parish or Guernsey as a whole and their suggestions reflect this. For instance, more disposable income does not figure at all (although the inescapable costs of living still appear).

Again, Traffic/Parking was the largest single category with 269 (18%) responses. Much like before, this had to do with having less traffic and noise pollution, as well as better parking in town. This was followed in popularity by the rather catch-all categories of Facilities (including better street lighting, disabled access and a greater variety of shops) (193 responses or 13%) and Environment (178 responses or 12%). Linked to traffic/parking was Public Transport (better and free), which elicited 148 responses (10%). All these categories can be loosely grouped together under the provision of a better public environment.

Crime was a major concern to 127 respondents (9%). Specifically, more community policing and a need to reduce crime generally and vandalism specifically. Reducing crime was mentioned far more often when discussing Guernsey or the parish as a whole than when talking about individual quality of life. It should be noted that the major cause of concern was youth vandalism which was felt to be spoiling Guernsey society. Linked very solidly to crime and stopping vandalism was a new category – Facilities for young people (61 responses or 4%). There was a general feeling that more entertainment, youth clubs and activities directed at teenagers would ‘keep them off the streets’ and stop them getting into trouble with the law.
The cost and availability of Housing (106 responses or 7%) was again of concern to residents, as was Refuse disposal/Sewerage, with 103 responses (7%), the largest ‘single issue’ response and concerned primarily the provision of island-wide main drainage.

Whilst Cost of living (44 responses or 3%) and Cheaper air/boat fares (41 responses or 3%) still featured, some respondents also took the opportunity to give their opinion on changing the Licensing laws (32 responses or 2%). In general, of those who gave such a response, the majority were in favour of relaxing the Sunday trading laws. There was also some indication that more - and freely available - Health Care could improve the quality of life in the parish/or on Guernsey. Finally, Social services, Employment, Education and Child care elicited some responses (roughly 1% each).

In conclusion, it would appear that the residents of Guernsey feel that the best way to improve the quality of life island-wide or in their parish would be reduce traffic, clean up the environment (especially sewage) and improve public facilities (particularly street lighting). The provision of cheap (or free), reliable public transport was stressed, as was an improvement in the cost and availability of housing. Vandalism was a major concern but many respondents felt that this problem could best be solved by the provision of more facilities for young people.
Q22: Quality of Life of Less Well Off Islanders
Respondents were asked ‘What are the three main things that could be done to improve the quality of life for less well off islanders?’ This question elicited slightly fewer suggestions than either Question 20 or 21, with 1,337 given. As before, they have been grouped, in descending order of importance, according to subject matter.

In answering Question 22, respondents were asked to consider ways to improve the quality of life of the less well off. Out of the 1,337 suggestions raised, only 19 considered the less well off to be of blame for their own situation, ie undeserving of help and only 14 stated that there was no need for help, ie that there are no ‘less well off’ islanders. Ninety-eight percent of respondents made suggestions on how less well off Islanders could be given greater help.

Overwhelmingly, Housing (307 responses) was considered to be the most important category, eliciting 18% of all responses. Housing is considered to be too expensive, particularly for those on low wages. Rents, particularly those in the private sector, are considered to be too high. It was reported that it is difficult for young couples and first time buyers to get onto the property ladder and there should be cheap States loans available. Subsidies for the cost of housing was considered necessary by many respondents. Problems of poor housing quality were also raised in many answers.

Again, the lack of affordable Public transport (205 or 12%) featured strongly in answers to Question 22, it was not linked to any reduction in traffic or to looking after the environment. The provision of a free bus service, particularly for pensioners, is a popular demand.

Not surprisingly, many respondents called for a fall in the Cost of living (158 or 9%), particularly for fuel bills and basic foods.
A large number of respondents (129 or 8%) wanted to Raise incomes of the less well off. Many Islanders feel that the best way to help the less well off was to do precisely this and then they would not be ‘less well off’ anymore. People were particularly concerned about the low incomes of many pensioners and considered that the most effective solution would be to raise pension and other benefit levels. Suggestions for raising the incomes of less well off families with children included, higher benefits (particularly Family/Child Allowance), free school meals and allowing people to earn more money before benefits were withdrawn.

Another major category for concern appears to be Health care, with 99 responses (6%). Many respondents want a health service free at the point of use, along the lines of the NHS (including free dental and optical care). These views about the desirability of Guernsey adopting an NHS style system are of particular interest given the recent debate in the UK on GP funding. Some members of the British Medical Association’s (BMA) General Practitioners Committee recently suggested that the UK should adopt a ‘Guernsey style’ system of insurance payments of £16 per month for adults and £8 per month for children for GP services. It was claimed that The majority of the General Practitioners Committee believes it is viable to run an alternative to the NHS system. However, the clear view of people in Guernsey who responded to this survey is that health care can be very expensive for less well off Islanders and the cost has a detrimental impact on their standard of living.

A good Education (71 responses or 4%) was considered to be important to improve the quality of life of the less well off, enabling them to climb out of poverty. However, the responses were split between those in favour of a comprehensive system and those opposed to it.

Employment (57 responses or 3%) was also considered important to help the less well off and there were many calls for full employment, help to find work and a minimum wage. A large number of responses called for lower Income tax (52 responses or 3%) and higher tax thresholds to improve the quality of life for the less well off. In effect, this category could be combined with raising incomes and the higher wages element called for in Employment.

There is also a call for better and more freely available Childcare (50 responses or 3%) (particularly crèches and facilities for helping mums return to work). The provision of Facilities elicited 47 responses (3%). However, these mainly concerned free or cheaper entry to Beau Sejour for families and, as for Question 21, leisure/entertainment specifically aimed at young people.

Services for the elderly and Social services elicited similar levels of support (2%). Predominantly these are catch-all categories which contain such suggestions as ‘Better care for the elderly’ and ‘More support services for less well-off families’.

In conclusion, it would appear that the overwhelming majority of respondents in this survey feel that steps should be taken to improve the quality of life of the less well off. The most popular ‘single issue’ suggestions concern reducing the cost of housing, the provision of cheap (or free) public transport and free (or cheap) healthcare. Also popular is the idea that the less well off would be better off if they only had more money (through higher pensions and benefits, a well paid job and lower income tax) and the essential cost of living was lower. There is a great deal of sympathy for the plight of the less well off on Guernsey. Many people were particularly concerned about the low incomes of pensioners.
Overall conclusion
In total, 4,271 suggestions were made of ways to improve quality of life on Guernsey. There was major consensus that the environment was important and that steps should be taken to reduce traffic congestion and the pollution and noise associated with it. This could be done by the provision of a regular, cheap, reliable bus service and/or enforced limitations on the number of cars allowed on the island. However, it was also felt that the bus service was a good thing in its own right. The other major area of concern was with the lack of affordable, high quality housing, particularly for the less well off and the high cost of living which affects all islanders. Employment was a major issue with many people wanting improved conditions and a minimum wage to raise incomes. Reducing the costs of health care and tackling crime (particularly vandalism) by providing better facilities for young people were important issues.

Help should be given in all aspects to those who really need it - but in the cases where they still manage to smoke and rink but leave their children without decent meals and clothes, then they should be made to earn extra money.

No Need for Help - 22

0392/2/f – Plenty work no one should be poor Some just want to bleed the States

0631/1/m - Although there are undoubtedly a lot of people who appear poor, I know from experience this is largely caused by previous problems such as inter-breeding ie very low intelligence. Additional monies thrown at them won't help. It is still spent in the pub
